Carmel Churches Prepare For Christmas Holidays; Special Services Planned

The churches of Carmel will celebrate the Christmas climax of the year appropriately, with midnight services, morning masses and special music.

At the Missioon there will be the traditional solemn high mass at midnight, December 24, conducted by the Rev. Michael D. O'Connell. Under the direction of Noel Sullivan, the choir consisting of Blanche Gibbs, Ruth Cooke, Marigold Gulick, Edith Benson, Betty Lamb, Carl Bensberg, Ralph du Casse and Sam Miller, augmented by visiting musicians, will sing Mass in E Flat by Coller, and, for the Offertory, Gesu Bambino. On Christmas morning masses will be held at 7:00, at 8:00, at 9:30, and at 11:00.

At All Saints' Episcopal Church the Christmas Eve midnight service will open at 11:15 p. m., with choir and congregation singing carols. The choir will then render The Story of Christmas, by H. Alexander Matthews, soloists being Dorothy Symonds, Gail Johnson and Robert Jensen, accompanied on the harp by Elizabeth Seccombe, with Alice Keith at the organ. Mrs. Richard Johnson is chairman of the committee to decorate the church in wreaths and garlands. At midnight the service of Holy Communion will begin and the rector, Alfred Seccombe, will give a brief Christmas message before the choir sings There Were Shepherds, by John Prindle Scott.

On Christmas Day at All Saints' Church there will be celebration of Holy Communion at 10:30 a.m., Miss Keith at the organ playing Christmas Prelude by Corelli, Lovely Infant by Kreckel, and Joy to the World by Handel.

At the Church of the Wayfarer Organ Vespers will be presented at 5:15 p. m., December 24, when Robert M. Forbes gives Christmas music which will include Pietro Yon's Gesu Bambino, J. S. Bach's In Dulci Jubilo, Guilmant's Puer Nobis Nascitivi, and Boely's preludes on 16th century carols.

The second service on Wednesday at the Church of the Wayfarer will be the annual Christmas Eve Carol Service from 11 p. m. to midnight. The congregation will sing the traditional carols, accompanied by Margaret Sherman Lea at the organ. Dr. K. Fillmore Gray will give an account of Christmas in scripture, poetry and story.

On Christmas Day the church will be open for meditation and prayer, the altar decorated with poinsettias by a committee headed by Mrs. Tom Douglas.

In preparation for Christmas, on Sunday, December 21, All Saints' Church will hold children's candlelight service at 3 p. m. with the placing of gifts on the altar for sending to children in the Salinas County Hospital. O Little Town of Bethlehem will be sung by the Primary School Choir, composed of Judy Beenfeldt, Julie Campbell, Renee Myette, Dana Morgan, DeNeale Morgan, Gregory Nielsen, Ann Putnam, Michael Raggett, Margaret Seccombe, Julie Thomas, Mary Weisiger, and Jeannie Wolter. Dorothy Symonds at the organ and Elizabeth Seccombe at the harp will give Silent Night.

At the Church of the Wayfarer the usual two Sunday morning services will be given December 21, the 9:30 service to present the

John Wilgress Discusses Nativity Plays; Says Serra School Production Sunday At Mission Will Be Typical

John Wilgress, who majored in medieval literature when he was an undergraduate at Oxford University, recently discussed the earliest known form of English drama before an Adult School group, calling attention to the fact that the play which Serra School pupils will enact this Sunday is only slightly different from the nativity plays of a thousand years ago, and the candle ceremonies at present-day churches had even earlier origin.

Mr. Wilgress is the lean young man with the unruly black hair and open collar you often meet at the Post Office, striding along in a thoughtful and diffident manner. He speaks of the scholarship of others with the respect which might belittle his own, and at his home along the road to the Highlands, 500 yards west of the bridge over the Carmel River, he consorts with first editions of Euripides (published about 1500 in Italy) and other rare books which he supplies to collectors.

First explaining the decadence of playwrighting during the spread of the Roman Empire, when actors belonged to an unwelcome caste—yet emphasizing that the instinct for drama nevertheless persisted in the human breast—he traced the beginnings of the play technique which the Christian church in England fostered. There was only a gradual evolution from a duolog of priests, on through the centuries to bolder forms of entertainment for parishioners. The lament of Rachel for her children and the reply of a consoling angel, and the later dramatic lamentations of prophets, carried the pro-

GONZALES INVADES CARMEL GYM TONIGHT

A scrappy band of hardwood artists from Gonzales High School will provide the competition for the Carmel Padres tonight when they take the floor for their second league test. The Spartan quintets always put up a good exhibition of basketball and the locals will have to go all out if they want to maintain their winning ways. Chuck Dawson's surging lightweight gang will be put to a severe test in the 7 o'clock game, as the Gonzales Babes held the potent Pacific Grove lights to a 19-19 deadlock. Many of last year's good Spartan lightweights made the weight again this season, which assures the visitors of an experienced squad. The little Padres have played brilliant basketball in all their outings and if they continue their present pace, the midget crown is a possibility. Starting for the Padre Babes will be Herman Menezs, Pat Dormody, Gene Vandervort, Steve Whitaker, and Walter Frey.

Pacific Grove varsity defeated the Spartans last week, but the Black and Gold made a game of it all the way. Gonzales features a fast breaking attack which should test the two-unit Carmel system. Probable starters for the Carmel varsity: Lew McCreery, Phil Wettengel, Frank Timmins, Owen Greenan, and Lee Winslow. Sure to see lots of action are: Jim Hare, Dick Weer, Paul Warner, Tom Handley, Mat Schmutz, Murrey Wight, and Dick Gargiulo.

LEGION BEATS PINE CONE, 3 TO 1; STOLTE EDGES THE MISSION BAKERY, 6-4

In a pair of well-played Winter League baseball tussles last Sunday, the favored Carmel Legion pastimers had to go all out to take the measure of their fellow Carmelites, the Pine Cone. In spite of Gordy Miyamoto's no-hit, one-run pitching performance, most baseball observers figured the Legion was mighty lucky to win. The Pine Cone drew first blood in the game, when Bud Butts slid under Joe Nicholson's throw to the plate to chalk up a marker for the Coners. With Jim Hale and Gordy Miyamoto pitching big league ball, it appeared that one run might win the much coveted contest. However, a costly Pine Cone fielding miscue allowed the Legion to push across three unearned runs which were enough to sew up the old ball game. Miyamoto, in pitching his no-hitter, showed masterful control and his wide assortment of baffling deliveries kept the Pine Cone swingers off balance. Jim Hale was very stingy with the base knocks, holding the potent Legion batters to four safeties.

In the 12 o'clock fracas, the Stolte Inc. packed too much Bucetti for the dough mixers. Bucetti, on the mound for the victors, pitched a steady game, and also scored three of the six builder's tallies. Wildness on the part of the Bakery hurlers kept Stolte runners on the paths in every inning. The Stolte infield turned in some nifty fielding plays which helped Bucetti over the rough spots. With the bases loaded they engineered a snappy double play, and nearly got the third man for a triple killing.

There will be another double-

cess forward.

With considerable humor Mr. Wilgress described the serious attempts to dramatize the story of the Gospels, beginning with the Easter representation of the angel at the tomb, priests approaching "with delicate steps as though searching," to be informed that Christ had risen from the sepulchre. Later came the Christmas search of the shepherds following the star, to be told that Christ had risen from the cradle. Realism made it necessary for the star, made up of lighted candles, to be drawn by a crude pulley across the top of the church while the shepherds followed.

One of the earliest examples of growth beyond specific boundary by the Gospels showed a character merely inferred in the sacred story: the spice merchant who sold the searchers at the tomb materials with which to anoint the body of Christ.

The first signs of the comic appeared when Balaam's ass was shown being confronted by an arresting angel, whereupon, hidden beneath the realistic animal, a choir boy sang protest to Balaam's accusation that the ass was obstinate. This was read by Mr. Wilgress in expressive Latin.

Gradually the plays outgrew the space limitations of the church, Mr. Wilgress said, and the marketplace became the open stage. As the centuries advanced plays reached proportions which required several days for their enactment. One was the story of Genesis, with the Figura (God) presenting the Garden of Eden to Adam and Eve. Stage directions were explicit in advising how the setting should be arranged, how Adam in a red cloak and Eve in white silk (with appropriate modesty) should take their cues not too quickly and not too tardily, and how they should gesture toward Paradise whenever they mentioned it. In this elaborate pageant the Devil made his unsuccessful attempt to influence Adam and then retired angrily into the cave of Hell, conveniently at hand. But the Devil soon tried to make Eve waver, and upon failing in this he encouraged a "large and artificial serpent" to win her confidence. She accepted the apple and presented it to Adam, who bit into it and immediately recognized his sin. He went into repentance by changing his raiment to fig leaves and by hoeing thorns.

While Mr. Wilgress traced these developments he explained that all this happened long before the miracle plays and mystery plays were performed in the great cathedral towns of England. Discounting his knowledge of Shakespeare he nevertheless hazarded the opinion that without the long journey from the early efforts of the church, side by side with the buffoonery of the marketplace, the comic and tragic juxtaposition in Shakespeare's work would not have been possible.

Mr. Wilgress carried a chart which his wife had lettered handsomely in Gothic, and in recapitulation he showed the outline of the rise of drama from the close of Roman influence to the time when the mystery plays began to appear.

Malcolm D. Wilkie

Malcolm D. Wilkie, 79, a native of Scotland, died December 16 at a rest home in Monterey after having been ill for several weeks. After retiring from his position in the United States Mint, Mr. Wilkie came to Carmel twelve years ago and made his home at San Carlos and Vista Way. He is survived by his wife, Laura Wilkie, who is at present a patient in the Mayo Brothers Clinic.

Services were held Thursday morning at the Paul Funeral Chapel in Pacific Grove, Dr. K. Fillmore Gray officiating.

Harry Mitchell

Harry Mills Mitchell, 68, a retired brick contractor who had been born in England, died December 15 at his home on Fifth near Guadalupe. He had come to Carmel two years ago and had been ill for several months. He is survived by his wife, Minna Mitchell, and by three sons, Martin Mitchell of Carmel, Ronald and Werneth Mitchell of Oakland.

Services were held Wednesday at 4 p. m. in the T. A. Dorney Funeral Home, the Rev. Alfred Seccombe officiating.

HATLO CHRISTMAS TREE

Monday at five p. m. people in Carmel stopped on their way home from work and from the post office to gaze, not at the sunset, but at the Hatlo Christmas tree at Sixth and Monte Verde.

Jimmy Hatlo, creator of the cartoon, They'll Do It Every Time, says the tree is a young redwood which was there before he came, so he recessed his garage around the tree. It towers above the Hatlo home to a height of nearly 100 feet. At the top is a scintillating star which has grown from year to year until now it has thirty lights and a glowing brilliance. The wiring was done by Carl Rohr, who achieved a symmetry of design and harmony of color that makes this Christmas tree a part of the beauty of Carmel.

Mr. and Mrs. Hatlo have illuminated their tree every year although they have always been away in New York. This is the first Christmas when they have been able to be at home to enjoy it themselves.

SUNSET SCHOOL NOTES

Mrs. Sylvia Jordan's Seventh Grade

All the class rooms at Sunset are beginning to have that nice Christmas look. This morning I went around and peeped into some of the rooms. Mrs. Mylar and Mrs. Lockwood have borders above the blackboards that show all kinds of toys. Miss Rush's children made angels to decorate the room. I saw Santa Claus faces in Mrs. McCausland's first grade and Mrs. Uzzell's room features snow-covered houses.—Carolyn Fratessa.

Room 3, Mrs. Jordan's seventh grade, has selected the Carousel for a Christmas theme for decoration. The cover on the magazine Seventeen gave us the idea. Our border is covered with prancing red deer with evergreen horns. Each girl in th class picks a dress from the magazine and uses that particular style to dress the girl who will ride one of the deer. We are going to exchange gifts and these will be placed in a merry-go-round container until the last day of school.—Sylvia Heinselman.

Mrs. Orville Rogers' Seventh Grade

Thursday night Sunset School produced its traditional Christmas play under the able direction of Mrs. Beatrice Rea.

The chorus was selected by Mr. Arthur Holman, the cast by Mrs. Rea, and Mr. Calley directed the making of the stage sets.

Members of the chorus came from the fourth up through the seventh grades. Miss Rush also chose a small chorus from the third grades.

The sets were beautiful and scenes well prepared. We rehearsed almost every day with various groups.

Four students in the seventh grade wrote the first scene. It was quite different from what we had had before and I know everyone enjoyed it.

The cast was as follows:

Elves: Bill Leavitt, David Farr, Jamie Holman, Charles Sale, Dale Dawson, and Bruce Kramer. Small Angels: Diane Miller, Betsy Helm, Jenny Hill, Beth Graves. Shepherds: Bill Gorham, Mike Elliott and Bradley Dixon. The three Wise Men: Jack Hilgers, Nathan Stiles and Richard Tocher. Angel: Joy DeAmaral. Mary was played by Gay Masten, Joseph was Arleigh Jones and the Inn Keeper was Joe Campbell. The children in the first scene were Christine Conley, Gray Burnham, Joe Hudson, Richard Whitesides, and Tom McGlynn.—Pat Finley.

Mrs. Virginia Nye's Third Grade

Christmas is coming so hang up your stocking and get ready for Santa to come. He will bring all sorts of things. He will bring you apples and candy and lots of presents.—Margo Sloane.

The Sunset School children gave a Christmas play. The name of the play was Good Will Toward Men. The play was given Wednesday at 1:30 and Thursday at 8 o'clock.—Mary Anne Knox.

On Christmas Eve Santa Claus comes down the chimney and fills your stocking full of toys.
—Charles Leavitt.

Christmas is coming soon.
And the moon is going to be bright.
Oh, what a sight it is going to be!
Do you know what you are going to see?
Santa Claus and his reindeer
Oh! What cheer!
—Patrick Skelley.

Once there was a little girl. Her name was Angel. She went into the woods. All at once she had some wings. That is how angels came. Tweed Champe.

There was once a little fairy village. In it there were lots of fairies and elves. There was a fairy and an elf for each holiday but there was one elf who wasn't anything. It was two days before Christmas so the little elf went to the city and gave things to people. Now he is known as the Christmas elf.—Suzanne Bestor.

Once a baby angel was born. It grew to be a pretty little angel girl. Another baby angel was born. It was an angel boy. The angel girl's name was Star. The angel boy's name was Tom. On Christmas night Tom and Star were looking for the angels. After some time they found them. They were hanging up the stars. Tom and Star helped them. When all the stars were hung up the angels went to their own little Christmas tree. Each angel had a little pres-

PADRE CAGERS IN DOUBLE VICTORY OVER KING CITY

Severely handicapped by the lack of previous practice games, the King City Mustangs found the Carmel boys a little too experienced last Friday night, and dropped a pair of league tilts to the locals. The lightweight fray was a thriller from start to finish with both teams very evenly matched. Steadier play by the Padre Babes spelled the difference in the 23-20 game. Lack of accuracy at the free throw line nearly proved fatal for the Carmel Babes, as they missed 14 out of 21 attempts. Only the fact that King City was also inept on their charity tosses, saved the local lights. Gene Vandervort, with 9 points, again walked off with scoring honors for the Padres, but he was closely followed by Walt Frey who found the range for 7 tallies. Aggressive defensive play by Pete Berg, Herman Menezs, and Pat Dormody helped to shackle the Ponies. Steve Whitaker came through with a great clutch shot in the fourth quarter to provide the game-clinching points. Bob Burgess and Keith McKenzie also saw action for the Padre lights.

Although the Carmel heavies looked pretty pathetic during the first quarter, they came fast in the next three heats and coasted for a 28-14 victory. King City definitely showed a lack of practice and they were missing crip shots with amazing regularity. That Carmel had game control most of the way is verified by the shot charts which show Carmel taking 65 shots at the hoop, while holding the Mustangs to 28 attempts. Brilliant defensive play by Lee Winslow and Owen Greenan effectively handcuffed Ed Banuelos, King City's star forward. Banuelos, who averaged 16 points a game last year, was held to one field goal and a free throw for the entire contest. So tight was the Padre defense that the Mustangs failed to garner a field goal during the second half. Dick Gargiulo, with 9, was top point-getter for Carmel. Frank Timmins hit for 6 and Lee Winslow made good on 3 free throws and a field goal. Phil Wettengel, Murrey Wight, Paul Warner, and Mat Schmutz also broke into the score column with 2 markers each.

BOYS' CLUB CAGERS WIN TWO LOSE ONE TO MONTEREY

Last Saturday night, the Carmel Boys' Club played host to the Monterey Boys' Club basketball teams and proceeded to walk off with most of the honors. In the three games played, Carmel lightweight and varsity teams took the measure of the Monterey aggregations, while the Monterey Midgets walloped the Carmel squirts. The Midget tussle proved to be a battle between Paul Artellan, Carmel forward, and ten kids from Monterey. Paul swished in 12 of the 13 points scored by Carmel, and did yeoman work on defense. Also playing for the Carmel Midgets were: Arleigh Jones, Sylvester Burger, Bobby Updyke, Stewart Emery, Mike Ricketts, and Mike Ricketson.

In a well-played game the Carmel lightweights defeated the Monterey Club, 27 to 22. All the Carmel players broke into the score column, with Ed Stetson's 8 points high for the evening. This game was decided in the third quarter, when the Carmel defense held Monterey to zero points while Carmel was picking up 8 tallies for themselves. Performing for the Carmel Boys' Club lightweights were Howard DeAmaral, Bob Morrisseau, Bob Kodirad, Bob Hendricks, John Frey, Ward Gilbert, and Ed Stetson.

With Max Hodges hitting for an even dozen, the Carmel Club heavies had little difficulty in handling the Monterey heavies. Max was ably supported by LeVaun, who hit for 7 counters. Both teams remained scoreless for the complete first quarter, while halftime found the Carmel lads in front, 14 to 7. Carmel went on a scoring spree in the third heat, and took a 22-11 lead. The scoring was evenly divided in the last quarter, with Carmel the eventual winner, 28 to 19. Playing for the Carmel heavies: Bob Hendricks, Ron LeVaun, Max Hodgges, Don Adams, Bob DeAmaral, and Bill Risso.

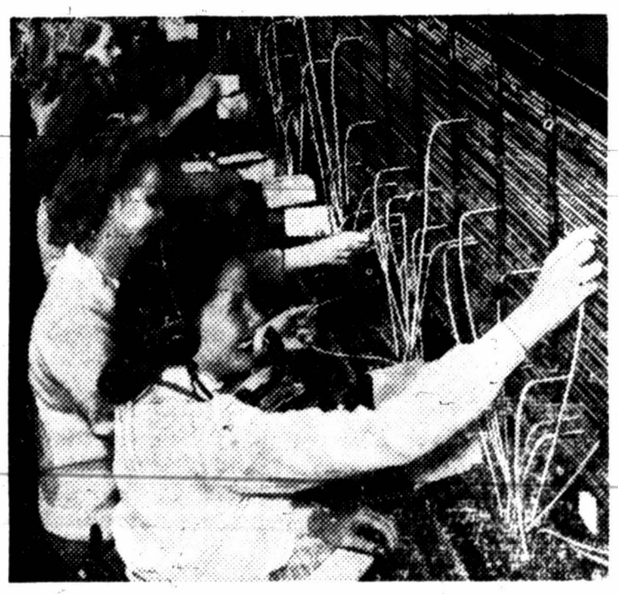
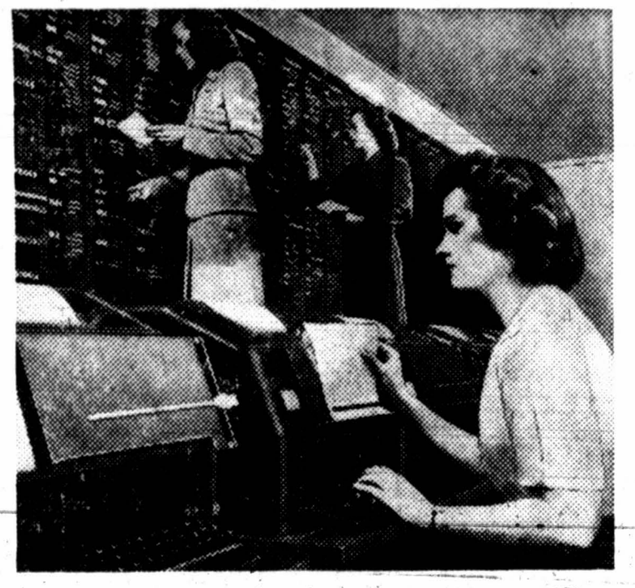
How we're preparing for your holiday calls



"The Christmas rush" of long distance calls will be extremely heavy this year. Months ago we began getting ready . . . setting up operators' schedules . . . putting in special tables for extra operators to keep the flood of calls in their proper order and help complete as many of them as possible.



Behind the scenes, chattering teletypes feed information from all over the country to this huge board in our Traffic Control Bureau. In this long distance "nerve center" we help make sure each circuit is working at capacity . . . set up alternate routes to help relieve traffic jams and keep calls moving.

Your holiday calls are important . . . and we'll put through as many as we can . . . but there will be delays on Christmas Eve and Christmas Day — even though our circuits to the East are eight times their prewar number. So if you can call before or after December 24 and 25, you'll find service much faster.

Working together to provide telephone service every day in the year are more than 60,000 people who make up Pacific Telephone. Each has an important part in our mutual task: To furnish the best possible service to the greatest number of people in the shortest possible time.

With everybody swinging into the Christmas spirit, Carmel High School winds up its Yuletide activities with its annual Christmas assembly Friday. The program, under the direction of Mr. Farr, head of the music department, will include a number by the Girls' Chorus, a contralto solo by Joyce Stiles, a piano duet by Betty Plaxton and Joy Westcott, and a number by the boys' quartet—Murrey Wight, Paul Warner, Phil Wettengel, and Basil Allaire. In conclusion, the student body will join the participants in a few favorite carols.

After the biggest social event of the season, formals were put away until the next term, but the good times are still being discussed. The Winter Ball was a great success with 42 couples dancing to the music of Jack Matthos. The cafeteria, decorated with trees and a sparkling winter scene, lent a holiday atmosphere to the whole affair. Due to the able management of the committee heads under the direction of Jennefer Lloyd, comissioner of social affairs, the function went off smoothly. Decoration committee, Ann Fratessa; publicity, Sherlie Sousa; bids, Biz Carr; food, Phil Wettengel; invitations, Peggy Riker, and clean up, Dick Taplin.

The speedball season got off to a good start last week when the Senior team defeated a less-experienced Freshman team, 13 to 2, and the Juniors rolled over the Sophomores, 8 to 3. The speedball manager, Jackie Briggs, and the class captains, Sherlie Sousa, Benita Updike, June Updike, and Carol Templeman will keep this hotly contested season under control.

Two drives are currently being supported by Carmel High School. The Girls' League is sponsoring one to obtain materials for a Dutch school in Rotterdam which was devastated during the war, while the Leaders Club is asking for donations of all kinds of foods which will be given to the Red Cross for some needy family on the Peninsula.

The unusual window display in the art room arranged by the head of the art department, Mr. Hagadorn, has been attracting much attention lately. Mr. Hagadorn brought interesting little figures, called santons, from Southern France before his discharge from the armed services. The little figures, representing the various trades and professions, are placed in the homes by the French at Christmas time in little arrangements similar to our creches.

December 23, at 7:30, the Carmel High School Leaders Club will sponsor some good old fashioned caroling for not only Carmel High School students, but all the townspeople as well. The group will meet in front of the post office, so plan to join them there to bring Christmas cheer to others, and also have a good time yourself.

Ojai Players Will Present Two Plays During Holidays

Charles Dickens' The Cricket on the Hearth and Second Wind by Iris Tree will be presented at the Golden Bough Playhouse by the Ojai Festival Players when they return to Carmel for eight performances on Sundays and Mondays, matinees and evenings, December 28 and 29, January 4 and 5.

Because The Cricket on the Hearth is one of the most beloved of all Christmas plays, it will have three performances over the weekend of December 28: Sunday and Monday matinees, and Monday evening. Second Wind, the new modern comedy by Iris Tree, written when she was in Carmel last August, will be performed on Sunday night, December 28.

The Cricket on the Hearth will be performed again on Sunday afternoon, January 4, and Monday evening, January 5. Second Wind will be presented on Sunday evening, January 4, and Monday matinee, January 5.

The Time Has Come . .

By KIPPY STUART

Come out in your garden and spend a little time at least planning your spring garden. It is time to plant many things. Massed petunias are most satisfactory. Petunia seeds are almost invisible and exceedingly hard to sprout, or so I have found. I have long ceased to struggle with petunia seeds for this plant slips as easily as geraniums do. There are as many varieties of petunias as there are of roses. The small, single dwarf flower needs to be planted in mass, but the double-ruffled variety can stand as an individual flower. Of the double-ruffled kind I prefer the Theodosia. This is a large sized trumpet flower in shades of pink and flame with yellow throats. As in many other plants, here in California, the petunia acts as a perennial. I have potted Theodosias outside my picture window that have been blooming for over a year. When they start to get leggy or shaggy, I cut them back and in a short time away they go blooming their heads off. A weekly dose of Plant-Chem keeps them sturdy and if they are in pots, they must be watered frequently. This Plant-Chem is one of the new wonder-miracles that is used in hydroponic horticulture. If you have an ailing house plant, give it a few doses of Plant-Chem and watch the miracle.

Now I am going to talk about a petunia that should stop all petunias. It is rightly called The Glorious Petunia and it is just that. This new hybrid petunia produces flowers that look like snowballs of enormous size and perfect texture. The flower resembles the peony with compact, ruffled petals that mass themselves into a symmetrical ball. The white one is something out of this world. It's heart is pale green which makes it look as though the flower were frozen in ice. There are other colors of this petunia and I tried seeds, but not with much luck. I did get one new plant with luscious dusty-pink flowers. The icy-white and the dusty pink make interesting arrangements and they last well as cut flowers.

These plants are most accommodating for they will stand up, with the help of a stake, or they will fall gracefully from pot or windowbox. From these two original plants, the dusty-pink and the ice white, I have slipped over a hundred plants. They are all over my garden. One, in the ground, has grown to the height of three feet. This one tries to bloom itself to death so I prune it back occasionally to give it a rest. These Glorious petunias bloom the entire year and seem to have no special season. Other plants in my garden get frost-nipped now and then, but these petunias go merrily on with never a whimper.

If you can't come by this new hybrid, the Glorious Petunia, come out my way and I'll gladly offer you slips.

Where Are The 23 Who Did Not Get Their City Tax Bills?

Carmel property owners have paid their first installment of taxes with gratifying promptness, Tax Collector Thomas Hefling says, but shakes his head and riffles through his fingers 23 envelopes containing tax bills that have never reached the persons to whom they are directed—property owners who have departed town without leaving a forwarding address at the post office, some of them possibly new owners who aren't aware that they are yet on the tax list. They're not only on. They are delinquent. And penalties pile up for delinquent taxes.

"Anyone who owns property in Carmel should have received a tax bill," Hefling points out. "If there is anyone who hasn't, he should come to see me about it."

Happy Holiday all Year Round

CHRISTMAS comes but once a year? Don't you believe it!

Not when you can travel in style that's bright and gay as a holiday wrapping — and just as sure to bring a sparkle to the eye.

Not when you've a big Fireball straight-eight with which to explore those pleasant little roads that are as full of happy surprises as a Christmas morning.

Not when you've a car like this, that can be snug and cozy as a seat by the fire when the weather's bad — yet wide open to the sun, the sky, the stars and the moon when the season's right.

Not when every mile you travel is cradled on four soft coil springs that give your car a gait as smooth and flowing as its long and tapering lines.

Not, in short, when you've a Buick Convertible, with push-button top, self-adjusting front seats, and electro-hydraulic door window lifts that are more fun to operate than a new toy train.

With this one, the holiday spirit lasts all year. With this one, that happy, contented, at-peace-with-the-world feeling knows no season.

It's too late, of course, to put one in your driveway for this Christmas morning. But why not see your Buick dealer, and fix things up for a future time?

Just the news that you've got an order in for a sparkling new Buick Convertible will be enough to give your household its merriest Christmas ever.

Serra School Notes . . .

On Tuesday, December 10, the Junipero Serra School basketball team went up to the high school to play the eighth grade in basketball. The first string of Junipero Serra was as follows Henry Overin and Bob L., guards; Lanny D., center; Myron Branson and Bobby Updike, forwards. We defeated the eighth grade in the high school, 32-0.—Benjamin Artellan.

Junipero Serra School has just started their school paper. It has been called the Serra News. The staff is Henry Overin, Myron Branson, Bob Laugenaur, Bob Updike, Lanny Doolittle, and Donald Canham. The paper is very interesting. It has an editorial column, a gossip column, a joke section, a current events page, a sports page, and a column which tells about one of our new students. The paper is issued weekly and will cost five cents a paper in order to keep it going—Peggy Carpenter.

This year we are going to have a Christmas party. It will be today, Friday, Dec. 19. We will have ice cream and cake.

Each child will give another child a present. We will draw numbers to see who will give who what.

We will also have a tree in the room.

It will be lots of fun.

—Jane Bond.

The students of Junipero Serra School are presenting a play for the Christmas season. It is to be the birth of Christ. There will be Angels, the Three Kings, and a large choir. Every student of the school is in the play, which will be presented in the Mission at six o'clock, Sunday, December 21. It will be very good, so be sure to come.—Ashley Cunningham.

The Junipero Serra School has been having movies for the past few months. We would like to thank Mr. Carl Bensberg for bringing the equipment.

GET INTO THE CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

☆ Inseparably linked since childhood in the minds of us all are Christmas and the familiar bell-ringing Santa Claus . . . faithful soldier at his post in rain, shine or snow. He is as much a part of the Old Christmas Spirit as stockings on the mantle or lighted trees. ☆ Through him and the organizations he represents Christmas comes to thousands of less fortunate and handicapped people here in Amercia. Without him their Christmas would be pretty bleak and cheerless. ☆ So give generously this year. Reach into your heart when you reach into your pocket. Carmel Story . . .

EARLY CARMEL AT PLAY—PART II.

BY DAISY BOSTICK

In the 1920's a May Fete was given for the benefit of the Arts and Crafts organization. The main streets were cleared of all traffic, and with the Eleventh Cavalry Band of the Presidio of Monterey furnishing the music, a great parade marched down Ocean Avenue, led by Gus Englund, our one-man police force, riding his famous horse, Billy. The collective heart of Carmel stood still with joy as Grace McConnell (now Mrs. James Thoburn) and Donald Hale led a group of local horsemen, including several farmers and and cowboys from the valley and down the coast who made a great show with their horses and bright trappings. In the group also were several skilled horsewomen—Helen Van Riper, Kathryn Cooke, Phyllis Overstreet, Bonnie Gottfried and Betty Greene.

Of course the parade featured the fire department and the school children, both of these groups contributing to the gaiety of the occasion and getting great applause from the spectators.

Ichabod Crane jumped right out of Washington Irving's book and paid us a visit on his historic horse (only this time it was a donkey). He brought up the rear of the parade and it was hard to tell at a distance whether he was riding or walking. The donkey developed a stubborn streak and refused to make headway, so a bunch of school kids propelled him along for several blocks. And I have a dim remembrance that Arthur Cyril rode a white horse and impersonated Lady Godiva.

Hilda Argo acquired a hand-organ and a monkey. Hilda was dressed up as the organ-grinder, the monk looked sad and inarticulate and refused to do his stunt of begging but insisted on riding on Hilda's shoulder as she wandered around on the sidewalks and in the stores, the organ grinding out its wheezy strains with many a dime contributed to the act.

At the conclusion of the parade, "Doc" Kibbler indulged in a burst of oratory at the foot of the Soldiers' Memorial and then crowned our own Carmel gal, Irene Goold, as Queen of the May. There followed a Maypole dance, athletic events, and the ladies in the decorated booths along the middle parking of Ocean Avenue offered (for a price) toothsome dainties prepared by them in their own kitchens.

The dog show was very popular—and vocal. Every bow-wow, excepting Teddy Goold, was washed and manicured for the eventful day. The prize winners were Freckles Yates, King Tyrone Kuster, Tiny Arne and Brownie Overstreet. Teddy Goold and Brownie Overstreet were ancient enemies. Each bore the mark of bitter battles. Brownie won the prize for being the best-behaved dog in the show, but Teddy very much resented the honors heaped on his enemy, so he started a scrap that broke up the show and wrecked the booth.

And there was a baby show. All sorts of infants—fat, little, dainty, husky—and most of them crying. But everybody loved them. Garnet Holme elbowed in and all but got mangled by the crowd. Tom Reardon managed to get in three times at ten cents a trip. The blue-ribboners were Elizabeth Walker, June Lewis, Lawrence Leidig, Jr., and Fordre Freitas, daughter of Roy Freitas, our present Chief of Police. The fond mamas and proud papas whose offspring did not capture prizes were good sports, although visibly disappointed.

A Grand Ball and a dramatic entertainment in the evening concluded the festivities. At that time there was quite an agitation about signs obscuring the beauty of the countryside, so as a fitting finish to a perfect day, a lot of signs were donated (some without benefit of permission) to the Signless Scenery campaign and a huge bonfire was made of them at the intersection of San Carlos and Ocean Avenue.

Yes, a fitting finish to a perfect day!

CHRISTMAS IN CARMEL

Go out in the woods and gather
The pine-boughs and the cones—
Pile them on the hearth together,
Strike the quick flame!
Ignite the sweet resinous needles—
Hear the crackle and flare
As the spirit leaps forth from the tree
The bright imprisoned shining one
Now soaring resplendent and free.
See the lights of her joy reflected
On tinsel and toy and chair;
Let the night-wind move in the weeds
And the dark waves crash on the shore!
For the smell of the boughs is Christmas
And the song and the sparkle of mirth;
And peace is the branch of a heavenly tree
Brushing the roofs of earth.

—D. H.

PRAYER AT CHRISTMAS

Doce menino
Just born
Seeing perchance
A first shimmering star
In the Judean sky . . .

Hearing the song
Of humble shepherds . . .
The rustle
Of golden vestments . . .
The voice
Of haughty princes
Kneeling before you . . .

On this your natal day
Grant us, unworthy,
Not gold—not power—
But Peace on Earth,
And to all men, Goodwill!

—ALFRED LEWIS.

ONE CHRISTMAS EVE

That was the night the stars came down
Almost to touching-height!
So low they leaned above the field
The great boughs swept the night.

Such millions crowding down so close!
Great orbs of glowing white . . .
The little path among the weeds
Lay like a thread of light.

I raised my arms to reach above,
Yet stood irresolute—
Even at Christmas who would dare,
For all the love and song and prayer,
To pluck such shining fruit?

—DORA HAGEMEYER.

Have You Read . . . ?

BY DORA HAGEMEYER

Chin Ling, The Chinese Cricket, by Alison Stilwell, Macmillan.

The eagerly-awaited book for children, Chin Ling, The Chinese Cricket, by Alison Stilwell, is now selling fast at the book stores. It is a charming piece of work written and illustrated by this clever girl, the youngest daughter of the late General Joseph W. Stilwell, and Mrs. Stilwell, whose home is in Carmel.

Alison has already made her name as one of the few western artists who have penetrated into the spirit of Chinese painting. Her work has all the subtlety and style of the fine work of the Chinese, and is indeed almost unbelievably Chinese in essence. To watch her paint is to witness the motion of an oriental perception through the hand and brush of a young American girl. The delicacy and sureness of stroke are unfailing, and the sense of design is so truly Chinese that one stands in amazement watching the living lines appear. Turn to the little willow-trees casting down their veils of shadow, or to the rocks piled against space on page five and you will see what is meant.

The simple little story, told as children love things told, in their own language, will apeal to all little ones and be asked for over and over again. Who does not love a hero who emerges from obscurity and neglect into victory? Whether it be a cricket with a little damaged leg or human being born in adversity there is something in us which loves to see them triumph over the proud and self-satisfied. Children never fail to appreciate this age-old appeal to the emotions.

Having lived so long in Peiping where her famous father was American military attache long before the war Alison Stilwell became familiar not only with the art of the Chinese but with their manners and customs. In the clever little people who appear all through the book in their characteristic blue garments she has expressed her love and admiration. She knows just when they would fold their hands in their loose sleeves, or how they would trot with a rickshaw, or bow courteously to an elder. The funny little tufts of hair bound tightly with red yarn, the shaven scalps—even the cut of the clothes and the fastenings are all correct and carefully perceived. This is a book that children will love, and grownups will thoroughly enjoy with them. We hope that it is only the first of many from the hand of this fine artist.

The Song of Robin Hood. Illustrated by Virginia Lee Burton, Houghton-Miffin.

This is one of the most beautifully illustrated books to be found anywhere. It is a book for a collector. Each drawing is a work of art, carried out with close reference to the text and to the flora and fauna of early England. Each page is indeed an illuminated manuscript full of the most delicate drawings and designs. The careful attention to detail, the truth of minute observation, the sense of spacing, the charm of progression, the lively action and story-telling make the pages of this rare and exquisite book something to pore over and exclaim over for hours and hours.

In her preface Virginia Burton has told how she studied the text and finally decided that "in order not to overshadow this fine type a delicate and detailed technique had to be used for the illustrations." So she has illustrated each stanza separately, right down the page, giving the action of the story and binding the whole sequence with wreaths of wild vines, weeds, grasses, wildflowers—everything that grew in or around the "forest of merry Sherwood." The full-page illustrations, of which there are many, reveal the illustrator of "The Little House" as having grown and developed and attained her full stature.

The same rhythmical sweeping design is here—the landscape coils and folds upon itself and shines with its own light. But something new is

Lester Rowntree Visits Unspoiled Mountain Villages

Lester Rowntree, Carmel Highlands writer and botanist, returned last week from her summer in the field, which she prolonged in the foothills of the Trinity mountains after the snows drove her out of her happy hunting ground in the Sierras. On her return to civilization she found displayed in all the book stores The Sierra Nevada, of the Mountain Range series, to which she contributed the section on plants.

Of her summer adventures, she was delighted especially with her experience in meeting the people of the isolated valleys of the Trinity mountains, who send their children to the little red school house, where all ages, grades and sizes are clustered together in one room around "teacher," who is as much big sister as instructor. Law and order in the little villages are maintained by pressure of public opinion, and the newcomer has to win the approval of the entire population if he wishes to stay, Mrs. Rowntree says.

"The people are very provincial, but it's interesting and refreshing to find that there are still such unspoiled communities. But it won't be for long," she added. "Roads are to be built and the tourists will discover the country and it will be spoiled. All over the state people are penetrating more and more into the back country. Every year when I go out, I find that some other favorite place of mine is changed."

She said that this year she had again gone on her pack trip into the mountains alone. "People say they love nature and want to come along. They think they can take it, but they care too much about their comfort."

The small, wiry botanist who unrolls her sleeping bag on the ground, cares so little for her own comfort that she keeps boards under the mattress of the bed she sleeps on at home so she won't "soften up" during the winter. "But every year the ground gets a little harder," she admitted. "Maybe I'll succumb to the air mattress, too, some day.

here. The artist has achieved an integration of true importance. As the book proceeds the pages grow more and more beautiful, and the artist's imagination calls forth more and more delicate craftsmanship until the final pages, with the yew-tree borders, achieve a perfection seldom reached.

The text has been selected and edited by Anne Malcolmson and the music arranged by Grace Castagnetta. But although these are well done it is to the illustrations that one looks for the unique value of the book.

Virginia Lee Burton is an artist of whom Carmel may well be proud. She lived here during her childhood and attended Sunset and Monterey High School. She is the youngest daughter of Mrs. Carl Cherry, and has lived in the east since her marriage.

Audubon Meeting

The Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society met last Friday evening in Sunset School and Robert E. Peck, president, called upon Mrs. Jean Linsdale and Mrs. Abbie Lou Williams for discussion of their work in collecting food and clothing for shipment to needy European ornithologists. Mrs. Isabelle M. Terhune, secretary, agreed to open her home at Santa Fe and Eighth for collection of soap, fats, canned meats or fruit juices, stationery, clothes, etc., to be packed and shipped to residents of war-depleted countries who are listed with the Audubon Society.

Dr. Jean Linsdale of Hastings Reservation spoke on the current bird population.

The Society made plans to hold a dinner meeting at La Ribera Hotel at 6 o'clock, Thursday, January 15, in honor of Roger Tory Peterson, ornithologist and author of Field Guide to Western Birds, preceding his lecture at Sunset Auditorium. Mr. Peterson will talk on The Riddle of Migration, showing colored motion pictures, as the third event of the Audubon Screen Tours, and because of his fame as a speaker it is expected that the Sunset Auditorium will be filled to capacity.

English Doctor Here

Dr. and Mrs. Henry T. Gillett of Oxford, England, are staying at the Pine Inn until the day after Christmas, when they plan to go south for a visit extending into the spring.

Dr. Gillett practiced medicine in Oxford, population 120,000, for nearly half a century before he retired in favor of his son. He and his wife came to this country last September in order to attend the convention of the World Committee of the Society of Friends in Richmond, Indiana—the first since before the war—and now they are in Carmel for a "refresher" before taking up their activities again. They are glad to meet any Carmelites who are interested in the Friends, 20,000 of whom in England feel individually the responsibility of serving the cause of humanity. The Quakers in the three Coast states are now arranging for a yearly committee meeting to help further their work.

Dash UPSTAIRS to the CARMEL ART SHOP in the Seven Arts Court for a surprise panorama of quality gifts carried nowhere else in town: Unusual ceramics like the blue oriental fish candle holders with centerpiece to match, and an utterly different album called flex-o-coil, bound in deerhide with acetate covered pages, and of course, available extra pages. Art students and professionals will go for the gift sets of oils, water colors and pastels. The ART SHOP carries well known brands and strives to collect the unusual and special in objects. The upstairs location and high peaked studio roof are definitely distinct items too.

A glimmering tier of glass draws you to the corner of REMO'S shop on Decatur in Monterey displaying crystal and glassware. Large brandy snifters, a slim vase, and shallow bowls in lead crystal with pure rounded lines denote the fine work of Swedish craftsmen and convey to the eye an immediate integrated impression of something fragile yet thoroughly solid. There are candlesticks in Czechoslovakian crystal, and a great exquisitely cut vase in which form and material belong perfectly to each other. Ranging in price from one to one hundred dollars is the American glassware with plates by Lois Bruick made interestingly of double thickness with color in between. Two mall plates of hers have a remarkable effect, something like whipped pale green sea foam. Plastic is used for very modern square or round salt and pepper shakers. Not belonging to this collection but definitely worth mentioning is a modern Italian porcelain centerpiece, glazed with gunmetal, of two dancing figures holding cymbals. And always remember that REMO'S main function is the designing and making of modern furniture at not too expensive prices.

Everything is ready for Santa in the windows of the FLOR DE MONTEREY, complete with snow, a fireplace full of branches, a chimney set with candles and holly, and a tree sprinkled with silver. This Christmas prelude invites you to look over the collection of flowers and plants, of holiday wreaths, of baskets full of pine cones dusted with silvered blues, reds, oranges, of pots full of delicate cool green maiden hair fern. For those friends of yours who might have to spend a hospital holiday, there is a neat sweet collection of cacti in amusing pottery bowls. Marine bowls, filled with sand and cacti, resemble miniature deserts, and will surely brighten the dull eyes of routine-tired patients. There are still many plants of cyclamen and azaleas, and always a fresh supply of cut blooms. Let your holidays be colorful and sweet with a fiesta of flowers.

Mr. Ekert, who says he was prowling around the Carmel Valley one day and couldn't resist it, is the owner of the recently opened BOX STALL. The Shop, rustic in character, manages at the same time an air of smartness—maybe it's that big new display window—and is very definitely a part of the growing little village of Las Laureles. It features, in capital letters, Western riding clothes for men and women. Carmelites and Valleyites will feel immediately at home in the Strauss frontier pants and the Strauss and Pendleton plaid wool shirts. In fact, a wool shirt is our peninsular signature in clothes. The BOX STALL has a faint, delightful air about it of a modernized trading post, and you will want to make it a stopping point on your valley trips.

You will find custom made clothes at the MONTEREY KIDDIE SHOP. When your child says "Oh, Mummy, I want THAT one," all you have to do is order the size and color you want, and you will receive a beautiful handmade dress. The models are fashionable, too, with quite the new look: plaid taffetas with bustle effects, crisp organdies with huge ruffles attached to the hem and ornamented with tiny black bows, polka dotted swiss with a double bustle effect, a crocheted white dress over a dainty pink under slip. Delightful, too, are the soft flannel two-piece pyjamas and nightgowns with lace trimmings.

With your forever good tweeds, or new length skirts, sweaters are at must and HOWARD'S DRESS SHOP in Monterey is a must place for them. Jane Irwill sweaters of botany yarn come in all the new spring colors, are short sleeved, long sleeved, cardigans or slipovers, and start at a good price of $3.98. Those of you who've been hunting for years for pure white sweaters will be delighted with the white ANGORAS that have just arrived. You can have them in cardigans or slipovers, starting at $7.98. Make your wardrobe sweater happy.

For High School boys and girls, to give each other WHEATON JEWELERS carry a line of SCHOOL jewelry crested with the Pacific Grove or Monterey High red or green emblem. Boys will like the extension chains, (pulled out as long as they like), the pen knives, identification bracelets and cigarette cases, while the girls will go for the bracelets, lockets and heart shaped compacts. Most of these items are under $5.00 and are of sterling silver or gold with a permanent finish. Everyone will give a school cheer for the emblemed charms to be worn on chains around the neck. Hop to it, students, and adorn yourselves with crested jewelry.

Peter F. Daily says: "I tried everything — orange juice, tomato juice, sauerkraut juice, lemon juice and just plain juice but nothing helped me. Then I started eating at RING'S and now I feel juiced as good as ever." Eat at RING'S on Scott and Pacific, catywampus from the First Theatre in Monterey. Open 11:00 a.m. till 8 p.m. on weekdays, till 12:00 p.m. Saturday.

For executives or secretaries, all office workers of the Peninsula, the WURZMANN TYPEWRITER EXCHANGE has a fabulous new office chair cushion of plastic brown leather. The pillow comes in two sizes, is washable, and for your special comfort is 2½" thick. Made by the American Lastex Corporation, priced at $4.95, it is attractively gift wrapped in transparent cellophane with holiday greetings. If you want to feel that you're floating while you type, present yourself and your friends with an office chair cushion from WURZMANN TYPEWRITER EXCHANGE.

When babies aren't being washed, fed, or played with, parents are probably spending most of their time snapping the little angels' photos. But for a beautiful 8"x10" toned portrait of your child go to the MONTEREY STUDIO on Alvarado. For $10.00 you become a member of the Picture Book Club and are entitled to four portraits taken at intervals of your own choosing and with no time limit. These portraits are placed in handsome cream or white leatherette folders. Your membership also entitles you to additional portraits at a lower price. It will please parents and children, too, when they are grown, to have memento of, some say, the best years of their lives.

We introduced you to George Beck of the MONTEREY JEWELERS last week, and we hope by now you have gone in to meet him. George says he is the kind of fellow who likes to do a good deed a day and, in his case, the good deed is making women beautiful. For this purpose he has the right kind of jewelry to please Carmel and Monterey women, and this time I would like to emphasize the silver and gold neckpieces for the tailored appearance our Peninsula women like. There are gold chains in simple designs, a smart necklace of three silver chains coiled together, strands of copper and strands of round gold beads wonderful on black sweaters. Let George do his good deed and make you more beautiful with his jewelry.

Another "First" for Monterey is the most complete line of leather goods between San Francisco and Los Angeles carried at the recently opened LEATHER SHOP on Alvarado. Mr. Fellhauer, who teaches night classes in leather craft, will custom make wallets, purses, belts, anything you want, even dog shoes. His services include gold stamping on any purchase no matter where bought, and for free if it's from the LEATHER SHOP. You must see it to believe the complete assortment of leather and sterling gifts: luggage, brief cases, sterling buckles, concha belts, handmade pocket secretaries and passport cases, colored Italian lizard belts. I repeat, go see for your self.

The oldest store on Alvarado, CUMMINGS' SONS, is featuring for its holiday guests Fostoria glassware etched in the popular romance pattern. The pattern comes in all shapes of glassware for anything drinkable: goblets, wine glasses, tumblers, cocktails, cordials, and also sherbets. If you have a complete feeling about things, you will want your bowls and candlesticks carried out in the same pattern. Enthusiastic brides will demand no less than this romance pattern, and everyone will be pleased with its delicate lines. CUMMINGS' SONS also shows Fostoria early American glass in stemware and large pieces.

You can go right through the holidays at the CASA MUNRAS. Have your hot holidays drinks there Christmas Eve, a special dinner on Christmas Day, a special children's dinner too, and New Year's Eve will have great goings on with a gay reservation party. Danny Danziger will make with the music until 2:00 o'clock, you will tread through a full course dinner with many interruptions by noise makers, balloons, more approach-of-the-new-year noises, and at twelve-thirty you start fiestaing all over again when tray loads of canapes and hors d'ouevres are served. The CASA MUNRAS will help you help the New Year to a bang up beginning.

Telephone conversation: "Hello —how about GALLATIN'S tonight? Of course they're still open, foolish, they've been open all the time and are going to stay that way right through the holidays. How about it- Good, because I'm crazy about the food and I love that beautiful drive down and back. Tell the gang to come along? Sure. Everyone always has a good time at GALLATIN'S." So you see, GALLATIN'S is open and vacationers and residents won't want to miss those good dinners down the coast at Bixtby Creek.

THE OUTPOST, in Los Laureles, the valley village, welcomes local people and "foreigners" driving through, cowboys, youngsters, everybody, in fact, to its intimate atmosphere and special plate lunches and dinners. The only place in the valley serving meals all year round, the OUTPOST has many features to make it especially popular: a pleasant outside terrace for dining, a beer stall where the cowboys gather, a sherry hour from three to five o'clock, and a Sunday round table loaded from one to eight o'clock with all kinds of salads, jellies, aspics, coleslaw, ten or twelve varieties from which you may make a selection. MINA BUCKMAN, chef, and LILLIAN RUVERS, serving, are the two who thought this all up, and between them will make you feel like a guest in a friendly house.

Cinch your waist into a fashionable minimum with a great eye-snatching silver or gold buckle from Carmelo's in Monterey. For the men on your mind, this OLD SADDLE SHOP has all kinds of riding equipment and a collection of wallets with a pedigree. Deerhide wallets made in El Paso, unborn calf, leather purses, every possible kind of shape and size folder for the carrying of money, papers and somebodys photograph.

Taking a photograph is merely the beginning of a journey; let McKAY'S on Alvarado finish it for you. They specialize in finishing and now that the holidays are here they will not only finish your negative but make it into a Christmas card. You can have your choice of several layouts in tri-part design of: your photograph, a greeting, and a small drawing of some Christmas symbol. Or they will nest the photograph in a Christmas folder which has cheery green greetings. Henry Ruppel is in charge of finishing and you can depend on good swift work.

How far would you travel for hand loomed plaid or plain colored ties from Santa Fe, for Albuquerque fashioned red suede moccasins with fleece soles or beige buckskin studded with silver? How long could you stay away from Navajo jewelry, hand tooled Western belts with sterling buckles, a green alligator bag straight from the Argentine? Just long enough to whip out to the BOX STALL in Carmel Valley. You'll find rustic atmosphere and good gift hunting!

One of the few things that the war accomplished was the general education of parents in the advantages of better footwear for children. This was brought on by the rationing of shoes and the necessity of careful selection. It seems strange that one line of children's shoes would have benefited so much more than other comparative lines. That line is the nationally known BUSTER BROWN SHOE, the same shoes that most mothers and fathers wore when they were children. BUSTER BROWN SHOES are available in a broad selection of styling and sizes from the HOUR SHOE STORES of Monterey and Pacific Grove. Expertly fitted, too, by X-ray. Be sure to have the kiddies listen to Smiling Ed McConnell Buster Brown Program on Saturday morning over KNBC at 8:30 and stop in for that pair of Buster Brown shoes for your boy and girl at the HOUR SHOE STORES in Monterey and Pacific Grove.

I happened to drop in to BOB HARNISCH'S office at the Normandy Inn and had a demonstration of the new McALLISTER vacuum cleaner that he is distributing throughout Central Counties. The constant maximum suction and the fact that there is no dirty bag to empty makes it the No. 1 piece of equipment in the house cleaning line. Why not give Bob a call at Carmel 405 and have him or one of his salesmen go down to the house and give you a free demonstration. Why not?

The POKE ABOUT suggests boxes of note paper decorated with pine cones and crisp with pine scent to use for last minute Christmas cards. There are also boxes of large stationery with three different designs of pine branches, scented, too, which can be used for Christmas letters or given as gifts. Mrs. Black wishes everyone a merry Christmas and a most happy holiday season.

The curtain rises on assorted holiday candies at the CARMEL DELICATESSEN: caramels, chocolates, fudge, candied fruit, mints, ribbon candy, spoon divinity, candy canes from five cents to five dollars, haystacks (cocoanut covered chocolates), and the traditional candy necessities of old fashioned chocolate drops, old fashioned colored bon bons, and old fashioned hard candy. All these and many more will be packaged to any size, gift wrapped, and mailed for you. And don't forget to place your orders of mine and pumpkin pies, fruit cake and turkeys early.

SCOUTING The SHOPS

We're all busy, rushing around like ants, then all of a sudden we want a quick snack, and start all over again. The place for the relaxing end of things is WALT'S DAIRY LUNCH on Ocean. I couldn't believe my ears when the BLUE BIRD RESTAURANT told me about the Pot Luck Lunch they serve for fifty cents. So I sat down and tried one. Soup, entree, coffee, or tea, and dessert. And good! Or have a huge salad for fifty cents or a sandwich starting at thirty-five cents. In the evenings they feature for dinner, roast beef au jus (select beef), for the amazing price of $1.50. And I can assure you that with these prices they're not cutting down on quality or portions. Try it yourself. You'll see.

The VILLAGE BOOK SHOP on Ocean opens every day from 9:30 to 5:30, on Sundays from 2:00 to 6:00, and will be open every evening until Christmas eve from 7:00 to 9:00. Edith Griffin says that all of you who have been waiting a long time will be glad to know that there are now many copies of James F. Byrnes' Speaking Frankly, and new Sunset Garden Books, along with a supply of newly arrived reading matter.

That popular VILLAGE CORNER wants you to know about its ice creams: the usual chocolate, strawberry or vanilla, of course, and peppermint, coffee, egg nog, rocky road, and always one nut ice cream, either maplenut, black walnut, butterscotch, or something equally deightful. If you want a lighter touch there is always a sherbet, it might be orange, strawberry, or raspberry. The VILLAGE CORNER will be closed on Christmas day so up through Christmas Eve you can buy ice cream to take home, and they'll be glad to pack it in dry ice so that it will hold up to just the minute you want to dig in.

You'll want to make the CINDERELLA SHOP in time for the pre-holiday sale of clothes for the Christmas and New Year festivities. Some of the better name dresses are in the sale, and of course they all have the main elements of the new look: bright color, electric greens, reds, blues, length, and draped bustle effects. A heavy wool jersey in beige with very full skirt, low neck, and elasticized bodice will make anyone the prettiest girl at the party, and a green crepe glittering with sequins is something to drink cocktails in. Walk out from the CINDERELLA SHOP with a package under your arm and know you'll be smartly gowned for the holidays.

A special sale in darling dolls and story book stuffed animals is on at the CARMEL KIDDIE SHOP. A go-to-sleep doll will make any child go into ecstacies. This doll, dressed in panties to sunbonnet which matches the dress, trimmed with checked gingham, is made to be undressed, then she turns her little head, closes her eyes, and goes to sleep like a baby. Babies take note!

Divine odors and wonderful colors will so overwhelm you when you go into the CARMEL BAKERY that you'll forget about diet or anything else and concentrate furiously and hungrily on the Christmas decorated cakes, the Santa Clauses of spices and honey batter, marzipan in carrots, pigs, peaches, and above all, amusing sausages, plum puddings and fruit cakes. Those Swiss Chalets you see in the window fashioned of the same spice and honey batter and snowed with powdered sugar and glaced icing, with a Santa winking at you from an upper window, can be ordered for your Christmas table.

The pleasant services of the NB FLOWER SHOP are at your disposal for holiday decorative arrangements. They will use your containers if you wish (silver is especially attractive), or their own supply. Holly with red candles, or mistletoe with white candles is their suggestion for best effect, and please put in your orders early.

The wondrous HANSEL AND GRETEL shop on Ocean has all kinds of goodies to sweeten your holidays. If you're lost in the woods in the middle of a shopping list, try packed fruit and candies in redwood boxes, spicy fruit cakes, strictly fresh nuts, or row after row of pastel colored candies. For special gifts for special people, there are wonderful boxes starting at $3.98, covered in gold and silver paper, packed with assorted candies, interspersed here and there with bright fruit shaped marzipan. All the layers are alike so you won't dip down to find the second any less good than the first. The clean delicate air of this shop goes with the candy and color.

Chevy Chase Tom and Jerry batter from KIP'S with a quick recipe on the jar will make you the perfect holiday drink. The batter is made fresh for this season and KIP'S has a nice big supply of it.

I'm still dazed from the incredible bottle supply on CARLETON'S GROCERY shelves. Everything you can imagine including tequila and vodka. So collect what you want to augment your holiday hospitality.

That swank new play place, the CARMEL VALLEY INN, is going to surprise everybody and particularly make happy a lot of nostalgic Nordics with smorgasbord on New Year's Eve. The stage is set for eight until two o'clock, and is open to the public as well as house guests. Mrs. Dickey, who is Scandinavian herself and knows all about special delicacies, will supervise the smorgasbord.

To take the load off your Christmas tasks and make everything easier for you, the CARMEL BOOKSELLERS on Sixth avenue gift wrap, apply postage (and pay for it)and mail your gifts for you. They have just received a new supply of current books and children's books that you will want to look through. The BOOKSELLERS are open every evening until Christmas eve till nine o'cock, and on Sundays from two to five p. m.

That new refrigeration I told you about at the DRIVE IN GROCERY DEPARTMENT is now installed and having seen it with my own eyes I say again there's no finger freezing when you lift out a package of frozen foods. A new frozen item you'll leap for is French fried potatoes! As for those convenient new shelves, there's no stooping, squatting, or squinting when you choose packages from them. Mr. Kastros who presides at this accommodating place wishes everyone the happiest of holidays.

LEO KOHLER, tennis pro at the Racquet Club for two years, has moved his sport shop into Ricketts and Freeman's on San Carlos. He sells tennis equipment for the Junior champions of the Peninsula, strings racquets, and conducts an informal headquarters for the lads and lasses who like to talk sports. Stop by for a coke with him and leisurely gabbing on tennis events.

Short hair is in and you of the long flowing manes can save yourselves a trip to San Francisco by a trip to the EL PASEO BEAUTY STUDIO where Mr. Thomas will clip your locks and give your hair style. Mr. Thomas, who worked with Antoine associates and spent much time at the City of Paris, specializes in hair styling and cutting; he'll be glad to give you that new 3" job which is halo-ing, shower-refreshing, and gives you the look of a young naiad. And the EL PASEO BEAUTY STUDIO wishes to remind you that there is just a short time left on its special ten dollar permanent wave.

IDA HANKE, now on San Carlos and Fifth, feels that she is doing a real public duty with her European massage, and you'll agree with her after she's given you a stimulated-relaxed feeling all at the same time. IDA sends Christmas greetings to all her Carmel friends.

"Cards, cards, cards everywhere" could be the refrain sung at BY THE SEA SHOP on the corner of Dolores and Fifth. Genial Mr. Edwards will help you find a card for any person and any special situation for he has a huge selection designed for the purpose of meeting special requirements. The cards are from five cents to a dollar and the dollar cards are almost a gift in themselves for they are beautifully made and each one is dedicated to a husband, a brother, or some member of your family. There are also boxes of assorted cards to complete your greetings from BY THE SEA SHOP.

Calling all kiddies: wooden toys at H. L. FRISBIE'S FURNITURE STORE! Please your dolls with a new doll bed and cradle or pink high chair, give your chum a non-tippable rocking horse to ride or a sturdy stool for grown up activities like putting away his toothbrush, or maybe your playmate has a desperate desire for a black wagon or wheelbarrow. If you've saved pocket money you can afford any of these for they range from .80 to 3.95, all that is except a special table and chair set, and that you'll single out for your very best little girl friend.

LA DAME ROSE sends the same old greeting: Merry Christmas and Happy New Year, and says the same old story: good fittings, good service, and good lingerie.

More and more new robes at GAIL COUPE'S shop on San Carlos, in the boudoir materials of satins, velvets, and padded taffetas. This shop also features Dexdale one thread luxury hose, elegantly sheer, in all the new shades to go with the new fashions. A good neutral shade is cafe royal.

Headquarters for the Gibson Girl blouses are at MAXINE'S DRESS SHOP on Dolores. Be a nineties belle in a Dutch Treat bright colored blouse of imported seersucker, a Ruffle Puffle with white vest and ruffled cuffs of pique and little black ribbon at the throat, or a Sweet Adeline in striped chambray with puffs at the elbows. All of these wash beautifully and to complete their effect you'll want a ballerina skirt in full sweeping black cotton poplin, faille or lush satin. Or you can have a tailored ballerina appearance in plaid or plain gray wools. Report to Gibson Girl Headquarters at MAXINE'S DRESS SHOP.

At fashion's command you'll demand the longest rope of pearls in history and you'll find it at BALZER'S CARMEL DEPARTMENT STORE, along with pearl earrings, coiled bracelets of pearls, clustered or single strand pearl necklaces. If you like to open your purse and find its interior glittering with purse necessities you'll want to investigate the collection of gold compacts and cigarette cases shown here. A round compact with gold base and shining metal top of blue, green, or red is most chic for nose powdering, and there are amusing cigarette cases etched with maps of California or the United States. Go into BALZER'S and ornament yourself and your purse.

Two important things to remember: your name and GUMP'S on each Christmas gift you give. All gifts are beautifully wrapped and maied postage free in California. Just five more shopping days, including Sunday, to complete your shopping list.

The VILLAGE JEWELERS on Dolores between Ocean and Sixth, has just received a new shipment of Elgin, Gruen, Waltham and Eterna watches. He also has a complete stock of watch bands to dress up your old watch, and is an authorized dealer for Keepsake Diamond Rings.

People who grumble about "Why can't we get chickens in Carmel like we used to get at home?" should stop by at TURNEY'S MEAT DEPARTMENT in the DRIVE IN MARKET and harken to a little tale about the chickens they feature. Specially raised in little pens so they never get to the ground, the fryers and roosters are twelve to fourteen weeks old. As they are always bought from the same man their history and raising can be depended upon. Try a fryer or roaster from TURNEY'S MEAT DEPARTMENT and forget about those chickens back home.

Entertain At Vanhaven

Dr. and Mrs. A. L. van Meter gave 65 of their friends an elaborate and original entertainment at Vanhaven; their beautiful home on the Point, last Saturday at the close of the sunset hour. Lemon trees bearing huge snowballs guided guests to the door, on which snow-covered stockings labeled Van and Elva signaled the event.

The Doctor greeted each new arrival, and Mrs. van Meter, attired in black sheath gown with gold sequins twinkling about her feet, presented her co-hostesses. In the beamed reception room were many of the priceless art objects which the van Meters collected during their residence in the Orient, and a fire blazed behind an ornate screen. Fairy-garden bowls of hors d'oeuvres, under tiny paper parasols hidden in leaves of curled cabbage imported for the occasion, were passed by Japanese girls in authentic costume. They reminded of the dolls beloved of children in this country before the war distorted the old friendship with the Pacific Islands.

In the dining room a Japanese chef carved a roast with artistry and made up sandwiches with skill. Across the table from him a gracious Japanese woman served the Doctor's special champagne punch. The table's centerpiece was a replica ice-cube surmounted by frosted toadstools about which played miniature elves, and everyone wanted to touch it to see if it were as cold as it looked.

In the upstairs cocktail lounge, where the collages on each wall and beneath the bar depict the Doctor's life work and hobbies, small groups congregated to admire and to plan on further Christmas festivities.

Mrs. G. W. Word From Anne Barrows

Former Carmelite Anne Barrows writes in defense of her Long Beach environment, "I suppose you 'northerners' read with glee about the snow that we 'southerners' had last week. It was a sight to behold! Snow on our front lawn—about two inches of it, too! Unbelievable, and of course unusual! There was a huge affair in Los Angeles that night for all women in radio in southern California, and the snow made it a bit inconvenient to drive in town, but I made it. Heard that greatest of all great singers, Lotte Lehmann, last night at U. C. L. A. We spoke of Carmel. Natch!"

Shattuck-Stephenson Wedding

At a quiet double ring ceremony in the Church of the Wayfarer with Dr. K. Fillmore Gray officiating, Patricia Jane Shattuck was married to Robert Anderson Stephenson at one o'clock, Sunday, December 14.

The bride is the niece of Miss Lucille Shattuck and Mr. Paul Shattuck of Fourth and Carmelo, Carmel. In the absence of her father, Mr. Gordon Shattuck of Honolulu, "Patty" was given in marriage by her uncle, Paul Shattuck. She was attended by Miss Joyce True of Los Angeles. Mr. John Bomberger of Modesto was the best man. Others present at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Stephenson of Los Angeles, parents of the bridegroom, and Mr. and Mrs. James Stephenson of Los Angeles, his brother and sister-in-law.

The bride wore a soft wool dressmaker suit of forest green, with luggage tan accessories and white orchid corsage.

After the ceremony a reception attended by 70 friends was held at the Shattuck home. Pine boughs tipped with gold, decorated the entire house. The bride's table was set in front of the patio doors with Christmas red draperies as a background. A bowl of white chrysanthemums with white satin streamers and white tapers set off the crystal. Mrs. Calvin Flint, wife of the president of Monterey Peninsula College, served the punch, which was prepared by Mr. Flint. The bridegroom's sister served the wedding cake.

At five o'clock, a dinner was served at Normandy Inn for the family party. At a table decorated with gardenias were seated the bride and groom, Paul Shattuck, Lucille Shattuck, John Bromberger, Joyce True, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Stephenson and Mr. and Mrs. James Stephenson.

The bridegroom received his degree in architecture from the University of Southern California. He is now a member of the staff in Robert Stanton's office here.

After the dinner at Normandy Inn there was much rice thrown to bless the couple as they started on their wedding trip, first north, and then to Los Angeles where they will spend Christmas with Mr. Stephenson's parents.

Their future home will be in Carmel Woods at the foot of Second street.

Castle-Landon Wedding

In an informal wedding attended by relatives and a few close friends, Frances Gould Castle became the wife of Corwin Landon at the Church of the Wayfarer. Dr. K. Fillmore Gray performed the ceremony at 4:00 o'clock Monday, December 15.

Lewis G. Castle, president of the Northern Minnesota National Bank, arrived in Carmel from Duluth, Saturday, to give his daughter in marriage. Mr. William McPheeter, Jr., was the best man.

The bride wore a two-piece afternoon dress of hunter's green crepe with a mink cape, a mink halo hat and brown lizard accessories. She carried a corsage of brown and gold orchids.

Mrs. Kenneth L. Stalker, who attended the bride, wore a chocolate brown suit with pale pink hat. She carried a pink orchid corsage.

A reception at Del Monte Lodge followed the wedding. Among those attending were: Mrs. B. C. Landon of Carmel, mother of the bridegroom; Mrs. Dexter Tight and Miss Barbara Tight of Redwood City; Mr. and Mr. A. M. McDougall of San Francisco, aunt and uncle of the bride, and Dana C. Rood, Jr., of Carmel.

The bride attended Miss Bennett's School of Millbrook, New York, and the Child-Walker Art School of Boston. She has lived in Carmel for the past five years.

The groom graduated from the Ashfield School for Boys in North Carolina and from the University School, Cleveland. He is the owner of The Peninsular Paint Pot on Fifth and Mission.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" This question is the subject of the Christian Science Lesson-Sermon for Sunday, December 21, with the Golden Text taken from Psalms: "The word of the Lord is right; and all his works are done in truth. . . . For he spake, and it was done; he commanded, and it stood fast" (33:4, 9).

The following citations are included in the sermon:

Psalms: "The floods have lifted up, O Lord, the floods have lifted up their voice; the floods lift up their waves.

"The Lord on high is mightier than the noise of many waves, yea, than the mighty waves of the sea" (93: 3, 4).

"Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Adhesion, cohesion, and attraction are properties of Mind. They belong to divine Principle, and support the equipoise of that thought-force, which launched the earth in its orbit and said to the proud wave, 'Thus far and no farther.' Spirit is the life, substance, and continuity of all things" (p. 124).

St. John's Chapel
Del Monte

The Rev. Theodore Bell
Chaplain

St. John's Chapel is a beautiful little church nestling in a grove of giant oak trees. Men and women from many lands have found it to be a place apart. It may be that you also will find its atmosphere congenial to the spiritual life. The Chapel is open all day.
Those who seek in its stillness to grow more conscious of God's presence do not go unrewarded.
Sunday services at 8 and 11 am.
This Chapel is opposite the Naval School, just outside Monterey, on Fremont Street.

with a view to illustrating certain topics in the field of Nature Appreciation rather than for the purpose of a travelog.

Mr. Graves was formerly librarian of Humboldt State College at Arcata, California, where he taught a course in Appreciation of Nature. He has lived in Carmel for the last three years and is now engaged in the production of 2x2 color slides of outstanding American scenery and natural history which he markets under the trade name of Colorful America. Mountaineering is his particular hobby and every summer he spends several months in different parts of the western mountains and national parks collecting material for his sets of slides and for his public showings.
